

Washington State Public Health Action Plan For Heart Disease and Stroke Prevention and Management

A Vision for the Future:

It doesn't matter who you are, where you live, or what you know:

In Washington State, you have access to a coordinated and effective system of heart disease and stroke education, screening, and care that results in lower risk of vascular events and improved quality of life.

The Department of Health is an equal opportunity agency.
This document is available upon request in alternative formats by calling 800-525-0127 (TDD relay, 800-833-6388).

This publication was supported by Award Number U50/CCU021339-02 from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Its contents are solely the responsibility of the authors and do not necessarily represent the official views of CDC.

DOH Pub 345-202