If you submit an initial application after July 1, 2017, you can also submit the renewal fee ($500) with it, thus extending your certification through November 30, 2019. For example, if you filled out your initial application in September 2017, your initial application fee would be $83.33 and your renewal application fee would be $500, so your total would be $583.33.

The renewal fee can only be added to initial applications received after July 1, 2017.

To request this extended certification date, check the Initial application box on the front page of the application form, and submit the total fee required to cover the Initial Application Fee (initial fee on the chart above) and the Certification Renewal Fee ($500 renewal fee) periods in the Fee Section above.
