WIC (Women, Infants, and Children) programs are designed to provide supplemental food to low-income families with infants and children under the age of 5. The program is operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and provides nutritious foods, including fruits, vegetables, whole grains, low-fat milk, and protein-rich foods, to eligible families. To enroll in a WIC program, families must meet certain income and asset requirements. The program is available in all 50 states and is funded by the federal government.

To find a WIC program near you, you can visit the USDA website or call the WIC helpline at 1-800-841-1410. In addition, you can contact your local WIC office or refer to the nearest location listed on the USDA website.
